

MEDICA 2006 - With many new products available for international sale, RNA Medical had a significant presence in the US Pavilion at MEDICA, the world's largest medical exhibition, in Dusseldorf, Germany. With the goal of meeting qualified distributors from around the globe the show was a complete success. According to Paul Shea, Director of International Sales, "the level of interest in the RNA product line exceeded our wildest expectations." Another benefit of the show stated Shea, "was that we were able to meet with existing partners and conduct productive business reviews". Prior to departing for the US, the RNA team traveled to Rolf Greiner Biochemica (<http://www.greiner-bio.de/>) in Flacht, Germany, one of RNA's oldest and most successful distributors, for a day of product and sales training. Please contact RNA for more information on products or distribution opportunities.
